

The value, key and path of cultivating college students' spirit of voluntary service in colleges and universities

Li Chen<sup>1</sup>, Zhaoming Chen<sup>2</sup>, Xuesi Xu<sup>3</sup>, *

<sup>1</sup> Basic principles of Marxism, University of International Business and Economics, Beijing, 100029, China

<sup>2</sup> Calligraphy, Shandong University of Arts, Jinan, 250300, China

<sup>3</sup> Accounting, Henan Normal University, Xinxiang, 453007, China

* Corresponding author: Xuesi Xu (Email: dwjmchen@163.com)

---

Abstract: The spirit of volunteer service with "dedication, friendship, mutual assistance and progress" as the core is an important symbol of social civilization, and plays an important role in cultivating people with virtue and cultivating people in practice. Young people are the most active and dynamic force in the whole society, the hope of the country lies in the youth, and the future of the nation lies in the youth. In the new era, with the continuous development of volunteer service in China, young college students have become the main force of volunteer service. At present, there are still many practical problems for college students to participate in the practice of volunteer service and carry forward the spirit of volunteer service, in order to promote the sustainable development of volunteer service, we should pay attention to giving play to the initiative, innovation, long-term effectiveness and caring characteristics of volunteer service. At the same time, we should give full play to the strength of the Communist Youth League, colleges and universities and social organizations to consolidate volunteer organizations, create volunteer projects, cultivate volunteer talents, and promote volunteer culture in the practice of college students' volunteering, so as to promote the high-quality development of volunteer service in China and promote the free and all-round development of young college students.

Keywords: Volunteerism; Young university students; Real-world problems; Practice path.

---

1. Introduction

The Regarding the concept of voluntary service, many scholars have put forward their own views from different angles. John Wilson and Marc A. Musick believe that "as long as the activities of giving up one's time and energy for the better survival and development of others and society can be regarded as volunteer service activities." [1] Snyder and Omoto regard volunteer service as It is "an organizational behavior that volunteers voluntarily provide persistent and unpaid behavior to the recipients." [2] Barker believes that "voluntary service is a service provided for the pursuit of public interests, emphasizing the pursuit of public interests." [3] Regarding the definition of voluntary spirit, Ellis, S.J. and Noyes, K.K defined it as: voluntary spirit is that individuals or organizations improve the survival and development space of others and society according to their own will and interests, without any self-interest and reward. ideology. [4] Crandall and Harris put forward the argument that "voluntary service embodies the individual's sense of social responsibility" [5] through the investigation of college student volunteers. Gray has conducted research on the relationship between volunteer service and core values. He believes that "volunteer service is a dimension of personality development, character development, and a gathering place for the development of personal skills." Clary Snyder's six motivations for voluntary actions: expressing value, understanding, social motivation, professional motivation, personal protection and empowerment through voluntary action. [6]

General Secretary Xi Jinping has made important instructions on voluntary service on many occasions, and kindly sent letters and messages to young volunteer groups. At the Beijing Winter Olympics and Winter Paralympics

Summary and Commendation Conference, General Secretary Xi Jinping emphasized that "the vast number of volunteers provided heart-warming services with youth and dedication, showing the world the image of vigorous Chinese youth." To the volunteers the contributions and achievements made in the Beijing Winter Olympics and Paralympics are highly affirmed, and the whole society is advocated to learn and carry forward the voluntary service spirit of "dedication, friendship, mutual assistance, and progress" in the prosperity of the country, national rejuvenation, Play an active role in voluntary service in social progress and other aspects. At the same time, the "Medium and Long-Term Youth Development Plan (2016-2025)" put forward requirements for youth volunteer work, "adhere to the overall situation, serve social needs, highlight youth characteristics, deepen youth volunteer service work, organize and guide young people to vigorously promote the "dedication", Friendship, Mutual Assistance, and Progress." Promoting youth participation in volunteer services has become an important task in various countries around the world.

In addition, China's voluntary service industry has also ushered in a period of strategic opportunities for vigorous development in the new era. Subjectively, the enthusiasm of college students to participate in voluntary service activities has been greatly improved, and they have played an important role in fighting the epidemic, rural revitalization, the Beijing Winter Olympics, flood control and flood fighting, and three branches and one support. There are cities, villages, communities, and western regions. Selfless volunteers in action. Objectively speaking, the successive promulgation of documents such as "Opinions on Supporting and Developing Volunteer Service Organizations", "Regulations on Volunteer Service" and "Guiding Opinions on Strengthening the Construction of County-level Youth Volunteer Associations" have provided institutional guarantees for promoting voluntary service. With the strengthening of China's comprehensive national strength and the improvement of its international status, many large-scale international conferences and sports events are held in China. For example, the Beijing Winter Olympics and Paralympic Winter Games that have been successfully held, as well as the Chengdu Universiade and Hangzhou Asian Games that have not yet been held, all provide platforms for young college students to participate in voluntary services. In this context, promoting college students to participate in voluntary service and promoting the spirit of voluntary service has far-reaching significance for the all-round development of young college students, social harmony and stability, modernization of national governance, and a more stable community of shared future for mankind.

2. The value implication of cultivating the voluntary service spirit of young college students

2.1. Guide young college students to devote themselves to the cause of the party and the people with the spirit of dedication

Volunteers are people who are willing to contribute their time and energy, and do things with others without compensation. [7] Marx emphasized: "People can only make themselves perfect if they work for the perfection of their contemporaries, for their happiness." "This highlights that as individuals in society, we must not only pay attention to personal gains and losses, but also consider the interests of society, the nation and the country." To cultivate young people, we must stand at the height of those who will succeed the cause of the party and the people, help young people carry forward the spirit of dedication, forge firm ideals and beliefs, closely integrate their personal dreams with the Chinese dream, actively devote themselves to the cause of the party and the people, and strive to become qualified builders and successors of socialism. General Secretary Xi Jinping came to Chinese Minmin University on April 25, 2022 for inspection and research, and General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out, "I hope that the vast number of young people across the country will keep in mind the teachings of the party, be determined to rejuvenate the nation, live up to Shaohua, the times, and the people, run the track of youth, and strive to run the best results of contemporary youth!" "

The Party Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core has ardent expectations for young college students in the new era, inspiring the young generation to set great aspirations, understand great virtues, become great talents, and shoulder great responsibilities, and become the vanguard of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. First, looking back at the long journey, 2022 coincides with the centenary of the founding of the regiment, and the red revolution road and the history of the red revolution highlight the background of the faith of Chinese youth. The 100-year journey fully shows that the Communist Youth League is the most solid reserve force of the Communist Party of China, and the sincere heart of Chinese youth to love the party, the country and the people has never changed. Second, based on the advantages of young people themselves, we must strengthen our faith, strive to be active propagators and exemplary practitioners of the core socialist values, listen to and follow the party, arm our minds with Marxist theory, and measure the motherland with the footsteps of practice. Third, look forward to the future, forge ahead on a new journey, welcome the 20th National Congress, and make contributions to a new era. Youth development resonates at the same frequency as the great cause of socialism with Chinese characteristics, and the spirit of dedication endows young people with strong spiritual strength, and young people should bravely be pioneers and career leaders in the new journey of building a modern socialist country in an all-round way.

2.2. Guide young college students to care for the world and be kind to others in the spirit of friendship

The spirit of friendship comes from China's excellent traditional culture, emphasizing care for others, and carrying forward the spirit of friendship in the new era is the need to build a harmonious society and the embodiment of advanced socialist culture. The Beijing Paralympic Winter Games, for example, demonstrate care for the vulnerable in society. Compared with the volunteer service of the Winter Olympics, the Beijing Winter Paralympic Games has both commonality and particularity, and the volunteer service of the Winter Paralympic Games needs to be more equal and fully respect the disabled athletes. On the one hand, volunteers should learn and master the basic knowledge, skills and etiquette of the Paralympic Winter Games. On the other hand, we should focus on avoiding "overhelp", understand the most real needs of people with disabilities, and provide the most appropriate services. On the other hand, the Beijing Winter Paralympic Games welcomed a group of special "volunteers", which are 68 guide dogs that provide services for blind or visually impaired athletes, who have been carefully trained and rigorously selected to participate in the security service as friends of mankind, showing the world the latest development results of China's guide dog industry. The spirit of fraternity allows young college students to understand "appreciating others, being kind to others, having love without hindrance, and equal respect" in volunteer service, and promoting young college students to care more about society, the world, the world, and grow up healthily.

2.3. Promote unity and self-improvement among young college students in the spirit of mutual assistance

Since ancient times, China has had the spirit of considering the overall situation, mutual assistance and cooperation, and it is the traditional virtue of the Chinese nation to help each other in the same boat, share hardships, work hand in hand and help each other. In the history of China, there is a "common use of goods without counting, common distress and mutual rescue; Immortal maxims such as "Helping others is happy, and people love them greatly", "Saving people from death, solving people's difficulties, saving people's troubles, helping people in an emergency, virtue also" and other immortal aphorisms, there are also touching poems such as "Yasukuni is difficult to return to Huhu and send troops to beg Lushan" and "Zhao Zi made rice to save the Khitan". The spirit of mutual assistance in the new era is more embodied in "one side is in difficulty, and all sides support." "Especially in the face of the epidemic, all the Chinese people have shared hardships and hardships, showing the great love of people who work together in harmony, mutual help and overcome difficulties together, reflecting the cohesion and unity of the Chinese nation. At the same time, the Communist Party of China has always been a party with a global mind, emphasizing that human beings of different countries and races should help each other, adhere to building a community with a shared future for mankind, practice multilateralism, and realize the common values of all mankind. The spirit of mutual assistance is an important part of the spirit of the Chinese nation, and cultivating young college students with the spirit of mutual aid can continue the source of life and the driving force for continuous development and growth of the Chinese nation over the past 5,000 years; Inherit the excellent genes of advanced socialist culture, achieve free and comprehensive development, and stimulate the sense of social responsibility of caring for the world and caring for life.

2.4. Enhance the ambition of young college students to establish lofty ideals with the spirit of progress

Young college students are the future of various countries, and the ideal of young college students is related to the hope of the nation and the future of the country. First of all, young college students should strengthen their convictions, establish faith in Marxism, arm their minds with Marxist theory, and master the application of Marxism's basic viewpoints, methods, and positions in practice. At the same time, adhering to the party's comprehensive leadership, young people's love for the party and the country is the foundation of standing up and becoming talented, and only under the party's comprehensive leadership can young college students grow up healthily and flourish. Secondly, the development of the country and the progress of society require continuous innovation, innovation is the soul of young people, we should adhere to the unremitting pursuit of "I will seek from top to bottom", dare to dare to do, and make contributions in the fields needed by the country. Again, "meritorious dedication and diligence." "In order to realize their ideals in the new era, young people must increase their talents and cultivate strong skills. Constantly learn advanced scientific knowledge, improve their own quality and ability, adapt to the endless new technologies and new models in the new era, and be good at "seeking truth, understanding reason, and understanding things". Finally, in the face of the unprecedented changes in the world in the face of the pandemic, young people must brave hardships and dangers, face difficulties and risks.

3. The value of cultivating the spirit of volunteerism among young college students

3.1. Emphasize initiative and enhance voluntariness

College students' participation in volunteer service should first emphasize the initiative of college students, and college students' participation in volunteer service should not be constrained by external requirements, but determined by their own choices and willingness. This not only reflects the value of volunteer service itself, but also promotes college students to enjoy the fun of participating in volunteer service in activities, without interference and control from external conditions, so as to achieve free and comprehensive development. First, college students' participation in volunteer service is often linked to the school's comprehensive test results, resulting in forced or compulsory participation in volunteer service activities, utilitarian and blind volunteer service is very easy for students to have a psychological gap in their vision of volunteer service, and it is also not conducive to forming a good volunteer service atmosphere. Second, due to different majors and different courses, college students have different study pressure and spare time, so when the study pressure is greater or there are more courses, they will face conflicts between volunteer service practice and academic work. Third, due to the setting of college volunteer service organizations and projects, often only freshman and sophomore college students have more opportunities to participate in volunteer service, and on the one hand, junior and senior college students have completed the comprehensive test requirements for volunteer service, and have lost the external incentive to continue to participate in volunteer service activities, and continue to participate in volunteer service activities more rely on their own initiative. Fourth, volunteer activities are often initiated from the top down, without mobilizing the creativity of volunteers, and volunteers often only participate in mechanical labor output, but do not participate in the planning and design of activities.

3.2. Pay attention to innovation and avoid uniformity

At present, college students' volunteer service activities are often similar, have no new characteristics, and lack innovation. On the one hand, although the number of volunteer services carried out by various universities is large, the main body of the project is not clear, the activities are not targeted and lack characteristics. On the other hand, volunteer service activities sometimes have the problem of "formalism", often in order to open volunteer services and patchwork activities, in the case of social needs are saturated volunteer services still appear in groups, such as going to the nursing home to send warmth, participating in street and community health services, going to rural primary schools for a short time to teach, etc., lack of awareness of practical problems, but also lose the meaning and value of volunteer service itself, and waste a lot of manpower, material resources, financial resources, but also occupy the time of volunteers and organizers. On the other hand, volunteer service is derailed from the digital age, traditional volunteer service does not pay enough attention to digital media technology, in the epidemic era, offline volunteer activities are often difficult to carry out, we should seize the opportunity of the digital age, open up a new world in the field of online volunteer service, innovate and explore. In short, we should actively combine practical problems and colleges and universities' own conditions to actively innovate, and pay attention to the diversification and brand construction of volunteer services in colleges and universities.

3.3. Focus on long-term effectiveness and highlight safety

College volunteer service projects and teams should attach importance to normalization and long-term effectiveness, promote the formation of their own volunteer service culture, and build a sound volunteer service system. First, colleges and universities should standardize their own volunteer service registration mechanisms, improve and strengthen the management of volunteer service organizations, and analyze the areas in which volunteers are good at and their own interests and hobbies. Second, we should strengthen the material management of volunteer service teams and integrate resources. Third, volunteers often lack volunteer service experience and professional skills when joining the volunteer team, and special teachers should be assigned to conduct long-term training for volunteers, and accompany volunteers to cause unnecessary harm to their own safety due to their lack of professional service skills. Fourth, due to the setting of volunteer service mechanisms, college students often quit volunteer service organizations in the junior and senior years, facing the pressure of employment and postgraduate examinations, and do not have more energy to participate in social volunteer practice activities. Fifth, college students lack social practice experience, and when college volunteers participate in social volunteer service practice, they should fully analyze the possible risks, fully investigate the local natural conditions and humanities, and reasonably plan volunteer routes and arrange volunteer projects.

3.4. Grasp equality and embody care

To carry forward the spirit of volunteer service and participate in the practice of volunteer service, on the one hand, we should pay attention to the care for the disabled and other socially vulnerable groups, grasp the psychology of the people served in the course of volunteer service, and pay attention to the equality desired by the group being volunteered; On the other hand, pay attention to the care of volunteers, and do not treat volunteers as "free labor". The Beijing 2022 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games are the first events to set up a "volunteer home" for volunteers, providing an exclusive place for volunteers, which fully reflects the care and respect for volunteers. First of all, the necessity of the establishment of the "Volunteer Home", the Beijing Winter Olympics and Winter Paralympics are different from previous events, not only the need to strictly prevent the new crown pneumonia epidemic, but also need to learn the knowledge of ice and snow sports that are not familiar with usually, and also have to travel back and forth in the three competition areas, etc., the "Volunteer Home" is conducive to helping volunteers work efficiently and solve problems. Secondly, the "Volunteer Home" has rich activities, perfect facilities and effective management, which plays a role in helping volunteers learn, communicate and build teams, helping volunteers release stress, rest fully and relieve fatigue in their busy time. Finally, the "Volunteer House" embodies the concept of people-oriented, paying more attention to and helping volunteers. This is a new highlight of China's volunteer service, and at the same time, it can cultivate a group of "volunteer volunteers" to promote China's volunteer service cause to move forward, improve and make greater progress.

4. Explore the path of colleges and universities to cultivate the volunteer spirit of college students

4.1. Give play to the leading role of the Communist Youth League banner and consolidate volunteer organizations

To cultivate college students to practice the spirit of volunteerism in colleges and universities, we should give full play to the banner role of the Chinese Communist Youth League and focus on improving the enthusiasm, initiative and practice of college students to participate in volunteer services.

General Secretary Xi Jinping stressed, "The cause of Chinese youth volunteers is a major initiative of the Communist Youth League led by our Party to innovate the field of work and serve the needs of society under the new historical conditions. "Looking back, the Chinese Communist Youth League has played a value-leading role in promoting college students' participation in volunteer service, and has always been the vanguard of leading college students to practice volunteerism. Facing the future, the Chinese Communist Youth League should further enhance its influence in China's volunteer service and among college students on the occasion of the "centenary of its founding".

In practice, the Communist Youth League should first play a leading role, with the help of May Fourth Youth Day, Volunteer Day and other major festivals to vigorously publicize and create a social atmosphere of mutual help and mutual assistance. Second, give play to the role of ideology in casting souls, and with the help of organizations at all levels of the Communist Youth League of colleges and universities, integrate the centennial spirit of the founding of the league and the spirit of volunteer service into the campus life of college students, cultivate college students' sense of friendship and goodness and responsibility, and strengthen the ideal and belief of college students to make selfless contributions to the party and the country. Third, give play to the supporting role, guide the construction of the college volunteer team service system, conduct scientific training for college students participating in volunteer service, and provide financial support to volunteer teams with demonstration and leading roles. Finally, give play to the cohesive role, docking and management of various college volunteer service projects, vigorously publicize valuable and meaningful projects, absorb college students who are willing to join the volunteer service team, consolidate the volunteer service position of colleges and universities, and improve the enthusiasm and initiative of college students to participate in volunteer service.

4.2. Innovate the characteristic brand of college volunteer teams and create volunteer projects

To cultivate college students to practice volunteerism in colleges and universities, we should actively strengthen the branding of college student volunteer service teams, and effectively improve the innovation, uniqueness and long-term effectiveness of volunteer service projects. In practice, subjectively, it is necessary to combine the characteristics of colleges and universities, make full use of their own high-quality resources, based on the professional advantages of college volunteers themselves, and achieve the connection between the professional advantages of college students and volunteer service projects, so as to achieve the purpose of integrating knowledge and action and applying what they have learned, and at the same time stimulate college students' greater enthusiasm for their own majors and recognize the social value of their own majors. Objectively, based on the real needs of volunteer service recipients, it is necessary to use visits and surveys or questionnaires to understand the main difficulties faced by service recipients, and promote more targeted and accurate volunteer services.

The brand building of college volunteer teams is conducive to enhancing the long-term effectiveness of the construction of college volunteer service teams, detailing the service content, service objects, and service processes, and avoiding the impact on volunteer service work due to personnel flow; Second, it will help to enhance the cultural construction of college volunteers, form their own volunteer culture, enhance their influence and appeal within colleges and universities, and stimulate the interest of college students in participating in volunteer services; The second member congress of the China Federation of Volunteer Service was held, and General Secretary Xi Jinping put forward requirements to party committees and governments at all levels in his congratulatory letter, "We must build more platforms for volunteer service, give more support, and promote the institutionalization and normalization of volunteer service." "The branding of college student volunteer teams can win policy support and departmental assistance, and further enhance the professionalism of college volunteer teams; Fourth, it helps to attract social funds, and the participation of social funds can improve strong support for college volunteers to join social practice, and it is easier to carry out personnel training and more influential and meaningful volunteer services.

4.3. Cultivate volunteer talent by taking root in the soil of ideological and political theory courses

To cultivate college students to practice the spirit of volunteerism in colleges and universities, we should actively create voluntary service ideological and political gold courses, and strive to improve the theoretical, perceptual, and educational nature of voluntary service projects. General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out in his speech at the symposium for teachers of ideological and political theory courses in schools, "The ancients said: 'Respecting teaching and encouraging learning is the foundation of building a country; promoting talents and cultivating talents is the first priority of politics.' Education is an important factor for national rejuvenation and social progress. The cornerstone is a moral government project that works in the present and benefits in the future. It is of decisive significance to improve the comprehensive quality of the people, promote the all-round development of people, enhance the vitality of innovation and creativity of the Chinese nation, and realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation." To promote the spirit of volunteerism and cultivate college students should be fully Use ideological and political theory classrooms, innovate ideological and political teaching methods, and enrich the teaching content of ideological and political courses.

To promote the integration of voluntary spirit into ideological and political theory courses, on the one hand, we must pay attention to "how to teach". Classroom dominance and subjectivity are unified, and the subject consciousness of college students is brought into play, and case analysis, situational teaching, and social surveys of volunteer services are organized, so that students become participants and designers in the process of teaching volunteerism courses; Media teaching, through smart classrooms, mobile classrooms, online research and other channels, vigorously applies digital technology to enhance the interest and extensibility of voluntary ideological and political courses. On the other hand, we must also pay attention to "what to teach". First, teach the rich connotation of volunteerism, enhance the theoretical nature of ideological and political courses, and let college students have a deeper understanding of volunteerism. The second is to teach China's charity culture and traditional ethics from ancient times to the present, such as the Confucian thought of "the benevolent loves others", the Mohist thought of "combined love and non-aggression", the Taoist thought of "universal love" and the Buddhist thought of "compassion". Promote college students to inherit relevant Chinese excellent traditional culture. The third is to systematically teach foreign outstanding voluntary cultures in ideological and political classrooms, actively absorb foreign excellent voluntary cultures, promote mutual learning among civilizations, help college students expand their international horizons, and understand the history, current situation and development of foreign voluntary service careers. The first is Western public welfare thoughts, such as the spirit of the city-state community in ancient Greece, the public welfare thoughts of Christianity in the Western Middle Ages, the altruistic thoughts of the modern bourgeoisie, etc.; the second is the Marxist theory of humanism, which has laid an important theoretical foundation for the development of volunteerism.

4.4. Establish advanced models of outstanding volunteers and carry forward volunteer culture

To cultivate college students to practice the spirit of volunteerism in colleges and universities, they should actively establish advanced models of excellent volunteer service, and strive to improve the role model, demonstration and driving nature of outstanding volunteers. "With copper as a mirror, the husband can be dressed; With the ancient as a mirror, you can know the Xingtuo; With a human mirror, you can see the gains and losses. "Giving full play to the leading role of volunteers' good role models is conducive to establishing college students' awareness of alignment and gathering surging motivation to promote the development of volunteer service." For example, there are 19 disabled volunteers in the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympics, 12 of whom continue to serve the Winter Paralympics, they are distributed in 5 competition venues and 7 non-competition venues, they have great enthusiasm for participating in the Beijing Winter Paralympic Games volunteer service, and provide high-standard services for the Beijing Winter Paralympics in the fields of venue management, event services, arrival and departure, and epidemic prevention.

Volunteers with disabilities have a point of light and a point of heat, which brings warmth and emotion to the event. On the one hand, volunteers with disabilities come from different industries and different identities, including college students, retired athletes, doctors, teachers, community workers and freelancers, etc., who interpret the attention and desire of people with disabilities in all walks of life in China to contribute to the event. On the other hand, volunteers with disabilities are also very good, they either have rich experience in volunteer service, or have rich experience in epidemic prevention and control, or have medical emergency support service skills, or have professional ability in sign language, or are retired Paralympic champions. Their professional skills and enthusiasm have played a very positive role in the protection of the Beijing Paralympic Games, and they have demonstrated the spirit of self-improvement, love of life and dedication to society in China's disabled community in their volunteer service.

The participation of people with disabilities in volunteering is far-reaching. First, for the organization of the event, volunteers with disabilities better understand the real needs of athletes with disabilities, which is conducive to the organizers to provide more appropriate services. Second, for people with disabilities, they can learn the knowledge of the competition, master volunteer service skills, enrich their life experience, and realize their own value in fulfilling their social responsibilities. Third, for groups with disabilities, they can encourage more people to be self-reliant, enter the society, integrate into the society, contribute to the society, serve the society, and feel welcomed and needed by the society. Fourth, for society, it is conducive to building a harmonious society that integrates the disabled and the disabled, reflects the social goal of "equality, participation and sharing", and makes people with disabilities feel more respect and equality. Although they themselves are people who need to be helped and cared for, they choose to be a light to illuminate others, they bring warmth and touching to the world, let us see the greatness of life, see the mission and responsibility. "Man does not lead and does not obey; If you are not first, you will not believe. "The power of role models is infinite, setting an example for college students, promoting role models, enabling college students to learn from role models, become role models, practice their mission in volunteer service, and have the courage to take responsibility."

5. Conclusion

Volunteering is a dimension of personality development, character development, and a gathering place for the development of personal skills. [8] General Secretary Xi Jinping's series of important expositions on volunteer service have provided action guidelines, given strong impetus and played a leading role in China's volunteer service. China's volunteer service has achieved many results, and has become an important component of strengthening the construction of spiritual civilization, cultivating and practicing the core socialist values, and building a socialist cultural power. In the new era, cultivate the volunteer spirit of college students, call on college students to actively participate in China's volunteer service cause, lead more people to join volunteer service groups, help the precision, normalization, convenience and brand construction of volunteer service, and promote the important role of volunteer service in promoting the modernization of social governance system and governance capacity. In practice, young volunteers in the new era should be guided by Xi Jinping Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, implement the spirit of the Sixth Plenary Session of the 19th CPC Central Committee and the "Spirit of the Two Sessions", carry forward the spirit of Lei Feng, anchor the mission, bury their heads in hard work, and move forward courageously, so as to promote new progress, breakthroughs and new steps in volunteer service, so as to realize the free and comprehensive development of young college students, and at the same time promote social harmony and stability, national development and progress, national prosperity and strength, and the continuation of human civilization.

References

- [1] Wilson, John and Marc Musick: Women's labor Force Participation and Volunteer Work. Nonprofit Sector Research Fond Working Paper Series, Aspen Institute, 2000, P156.
- [2] Snyder, M. & Omoto, A.M.: <Volunteerrism: Social issues perspectives and social policy implications>, Social Issues and Policy Review, 2008, No.2, 2008, pp.1-36.
- [3] 4.Barker, R.L.The Social Work Dictionary. New York: National Association of Social Work,1998, p.348.
- [4] Snyder&Omoto, A.M., Doing Good For Self And Society: Volunteerism And The Psychology Of CitizenParticipation. In M.VanVugt, M.Snyder, T.R.Tyler&A.Biel(Eds), Cooperration in Merdern Society.Routledge, 2000,pp.127- 141.
- [5] Crandall, J.E. & Harris, M.D: Social Interest, Cooperation, and Altruism, Journal of Individual Psychology, 1976(32): 50-53.
- [6] Clary.E.Snyder.Volunters's Motivation:Findings From a National Survey[J].NPO of It and Voluntary Sector Quarterly, 1996(4):25.
- [7] K.W.Heiderich, "Working With Volunteers-In Employee Service And Recreation Programs"(Champaign, II :Sagammore Publishing,Inc,1991).
- [8] Gray, B.: The rise of voluntary work in higher education and social responsibility in business: perspectives of students and graduate employees, Journal of Academic Ethics, 010(8): .95-109.